Continuing the Legacy...

Love, a Fundamental Concept

By Torkom Saraydarian

Let us turn back to the concept of love. In each book a considerable place must be allotted particularly to that fundamental concept. For under the concept of love much of the opposite is understood. It is correctly pointed out that love is a leading and creative principle. It means that love must be conscious, striving, self-denying. Creativeness requires these conditions. And if love is marked by self-encefeeblement, disintegration and service to self, it will not be the highest concept of humanity, which extols the concept of achievement. The heart filled to the brim with love will be active, valiant and will expand to its capacity. Such a heart may pray without words and may bathe in Bliss. How greatly in need is humanity of the realization of the fire of love! To such a fire will correspond a purple star of the highest tension.

Agni Yoga Society, Hierarchy, para 280.

There are three fundamental concepts. The first is Light. Light illuminates your soul. Light illuminates this Temple. Then there is the light of knowledge, understanding, the light of penetration, the lights of analysis and synthesis, and the light that unites the whole Universe together. That is the first principle. We are told that the first solar system was created by the Light. When we say Light, we understand it also as Holy Spirit because the Holy Spirit inspires knowledge, understanding, profound relationship, and creativity.

The second concept is Love. We are told that our solar system is created by Love. The highest principle in this system is Love. You cannot reach the core of the Universe with Light or with Willpower. You must exercise love to reach the core of the Universe and to reach even your own core. To reach your own core, you must have love. To reach the core of other people, to really understand them, you need love. Love is the second principle about which M.M. speaks.

The third fundamental principle is Willpower. That will be for the next solar system, and it will be the target of every living being to reach that Willpower. In this way, in three solar systems humanity will develop, will complete, will perfect its evolution. It is not that you die and go to hell and heaven. It is continuous development through three fundamental principles: Light, Love, and Power, creating every kind of activity, feelings, emotions, actions, thoughts that are in light, through light, and radiate light. Then you will mix with it love. Then you will mix it with dedication, devotion, willpower. These three will make you slowly, slowly perfect, going round and round and developing every time, increasing your experience and your light and your love.

In this solar system we have love and it is a very important position. Love is equilibrium. Love controls intellect and willpower. Some people are totally intellect. They are cold and destructive, selfish, separative. Some people are willpower. They do anything they want with their willpower without balancing themselves with the love. But if you have love, you use your intellect creatively, beneficially. Every kind of thinking that you do, that thinking is directed to do something good for other people and for yourself. Without love, willpower and intellect conflict and destroy the Universe.

Sometimes in ancient books we read that a great flood came, a great earthquake came, great upheavals arose, and continents were totally destroyed. If we see behind this concept, we see that love energy was lacking. For example, this man, this group, this nation, or this humanity was working on the basis of intellect, only cold, clear, intellect and not love. Or you can see in that civilization only willpower: "Let us go destroy. Let us go and take their possessions. Let us do this!" There is no love to balance it. Because of this imbalance in the consciousness, the imbalance occurs in the Nature.

Nature is the replica of our consciousness. This is a very profound announcement, and sometimes if you have time think that your life, whatever your life is now, good and bad, beautiful and ugly, whatever it is, is the reflection of your consciousness, nothing more. If you have lots of friends, lots of beauty, lots of love in you, it is because your consciousness is creating them. Even your business success is the result of your consciousness. That business will last, will improve and prosper if your consciousness raises and prospers and expands in a way that is balanced between Love and Light and Power.

When we say power, in a human scale we understand it as efforts. You open a business. You think, "This business must run this way," and you make a plan. Then you put your love into it, your enthusiasm into it, so that this plan will be prosperous. Then you make efforts to do it. This is how the three aspects or great concepts, great fundamental concepts are used by you in everything. Even if you are giving a talk or you are relating with people, one minute if you have time, if you have attention, you say, "Is this relationship based on the equilibrium of the three fundamental aspects or are they separate?" If you are intellectually relating to people, love and willpower are lacking. If you relate to people with intellect and love, there is no power. When you relate with people with intellect, love, and willpower, there is the whole so you will be successful. All these three aspects are in your consciousness. Your consciousness projects out and accumulates all the elements that will vibrate with the harmony of the three aspects within your consciousness. That is success, prosperity, health, and happiness.

Let us turn back to the concept of love. This is a very important way of talking if you penetrate into the esoteric aspects of it. Every great concept that we have learned, we must try to live. Occasionally we must turn back to see what it really means because time brings rust and dust upon great concepts and we must think after awhile what the love is, what the light is, what the power is. We eventually build illusions and glamors about the subject. But occasionally we should turn back and ask, "Sincerity, I know about it, but what does it really mean?" If you turn back, you will understand better. Let us say that twenty years ago you studied sincerity, but eventually, eventually you became an insincere man because the events of life, the pressures of life, the business of life forced you to be a little insincere. You lost the key, the clarity, the purity of the concept. What will you do? You are going sometimes to go back to the fundamental concepts in order to know really that you know it, that you experience it, that you live it, because since that time, twenty years ago, your intellect has grown. You have lots of new experiences and through these experiences and growing intellect you can understand better if you once more turn back to the mental concept.

What is the fundamental concept? It is love. We all know love. We have loved each other, kissed each other, we have done many things with each other, and we think that that is love. Is there anything behind it, in it, the depth of it? Let us turn back. Sometimes you turn back to clean the dust that accumulates on the highest concepts. Do not say, "I know it." Do not say, "I remember it." Let us go back again and again to simple, fundamental concepts.

In each book a considerable place must be allotted particularly to that fundamental concept. This is very strange. Whether you are writing two or twenty books, in each book allot a place for love, a deeper interpretation, a clearer experience formulated in those pages so that you lead people to that fundamental concept, to that fundamental realization. It is so beautiful. It is interesting. There are fourteen books published from M.M.'s inspiration, and every book contains maybe twenty verses about love. In every book He reminds about the fundamental concept of love because He says, "If you learn about the Hierarchy, about Shamballa, but you do not have love, you do not have Hierarchy and Shamballa."

If I teach Brotherhood to you, if I teach you OM, but you do not have love, both are nonsense. In the Gospel the apostle says the same thing, "If I speak the language of angels and understand the whole Universe but I do not have love, I am nothing." It is so beautiful. We think we understand love and we are living love and we are experiencing love. We are so far away from love, but at least we are trying.

For under the concept of love much of the opposite is understood. For example, I love my wife and somebody is interested in my wife so I kill him.

"I love my nation," and I kill other nations. It is the opposite which is interesting. "I love my friend," and I build iron bars around him and limit his freedom and call that love. How come? I love my friends, I love my nation, but I hate other nationalities and races. How come? We massacred all Indians because we loved ourselves. What kind of love is that? We massacred the children. All genocides are done because they "love" their nation. It is so interesting. You are doing genocide because you "love" your nation. You "love" your pocket, you "love" your dollar. Because you love something, you hate something else. How come? Then you love somebody and you say, "I will give my life for you," but then for something he or she does you hate him or her to death.

These three fundamental principles are so important and they are called indivisible. You cannot divide them, make parts, portions, and so on. Love is love. When you enter into the consciousness of love, when you raise your consciousness and you make your frequency enter into the fundamental aspect of love, something happens to you. You start loving everything. There is no enemy, there is no low and high; there is no good and bad. You love everything.

"Make me an instrument of love." Do we know this kind of love? No. We already have the love in our "pocket" and we go with it without knowing what we have in our pocket. "Honey bunny, I love you." It is trash. What are you saying? Love must be undivided. Do you love? Yes. Do you love those who hate you? Yes. You are becoming human. Do you love sick people? Do you love mentally ill people that plan against you? Yes, I control them by love. The national politics is no different. We must love all nations, not only our nation. But when they do not agree with us, we destroy them instead of saying, "We will control them by love." All that money spent for war, destruction, if we used half of it or a quarter of it for love, everybody will be satisfied and people will transform themselves, not become vipers, not become killers. What are you killing? You are killing yourself. Every time you kill somebody, you will be killed by somebody else in the next lives. It is so strong, so beautiful. Every time you butcher something, others will butcher you. Whatever you sow you will reap. That is the fundamental law. It is the Law of Karma that is in all religions. If you steal, they will steal from you. Why? It is because life is balance. You do something wrong; life will make somebody else to do wrong for you so that it is balanced. It is not punishment for you, but you take it as punishment. It is terrible. You can solve your problem, especially in this solar system, by love, not by willpower, not by intellect.

Two days ago somebody came to me with her naughty child, really spoiled. I said, "Mother, leave her at my office." I said, "Hi, how are you?" "Hi," she answered roughly. I said, "Say a good hi for me." "Hi." "No, better," I said. Then she really said "hi" and we made a contact there. "Do you know that I love you?" I asked. "Nobody loves me," she said. That was the first announcement. "Nobody loves me, and if nobody loves me I am going to take revenge with my bad behavior." We talked about love, about science, about psychology. I was not intellectualizing or using willpower. I used only love. The girl transformed. "I will never use that drug anymore," she said. "It is ridiculous." "I know," I said. "You know," I said, "you teach me." Then she started teaching me that the drug gives her a headache, does this and that. I asked, "How do you know all these things? It is very good information. You are very professional." It is all love.

In this solar system, in this life, we must all try to develop techniques of love, along with techniques of intellect and techniques of willpower. This is very important. Mothers, fathers, friends, use techniques of love. Develop the techniques, arrange them, categorize them, plan them, organize them so that it is only love that you are talking. How are you talking, from A to Z, must be in love. It is so powerful. You can change people. You can make the stones become human beings.

Understand this. Insensitive, unresponsive people, those who do not respond, these kinds of people you can make into responding people, resounding people, resonating people, because in your consciousness you are a different man. That person who is sitting with you eventually feels your resonance and answers to it. That is the bridge that you build between each other. It is very beautiful.

It is correctly pointed out that love is a leading and creative principle. It means that love must be conscious, striving, self-denying. If you say to someone that you love, you will be creative. You will create creativity in him, evoke creativity, evoke self-denial, evoke striving. Because of your love he or she will strive. To strive means that he or she will make efforts to be a better man, a better woman because of your love.

There was a Hindu boy who came to a rich man and said, "I want to borrow fifty dollars from you." "Okay," the man said. They sat and talked a little and the man said, "I love you so much. You are a very beautiful, handsome, and intelligent boy." He gave him fifty dollars and the boy went here, there, here, there, and eventually some thoughts came to his mind. "He forgot about these fifty dollars . . . why to bring them back." Then he thought, "No, he loves me. I cannot betray his love." Eventually with much trouble the boy brought the fifty dollars back to the rich man. The boy said. "Your love was always a guarding, guiding principle."

If you love your daughter really, she will enter every kind of trouble but will come back. What is that which is bringing her back? It is your love. It is not your intellect, not your "Come back you rascal" thoughts. It is your love, but it will be a real love that she registers and senses. When she senses it, it is divine alchemy. It is a different something — that if I love you really, and I impress you sincerely that I love you, you may do every kind of betrayal, everything bad and nasty, but eventually that point in your heart which is my love brings you to your senses. That is the splendid thing. It brings you to your senses. "What am I doing? I must go home."

What is the home? If someone loves you, that is your home. You do not have any other home. Ask yourself, where is your home — your wife's home, your husband's home? If he loves, yes; if she loves, yes, that is your home. If someone in the forest loves you, that is your home. It is not your intellect, it is not your willpower. You impress that girl, that man with real love.

A man on a motorcycle came here one day. He was a very good man, muscles and so on. He came and brought the motorcycle very close to me and said, "I want to see the head of this organization." I was dressed simply. I said, "It is me." "You? You are not even well dressed." I said, "Yes, I am working a little, painting, and so on." He said, "OK man, let us go sit and talk." He asked some questions. I did not philosophize myself, make myself a Master, a guru. I just gave a simple answer. He said, "You are talking so simply. How come?" I said, "Great things are simple. Everything must not be complicated. Complication is the result of misunderstanding things. If you really understand the essence of something, it is so simple." We talked a little and then I loved that man so much and looked at him. He was wasting his time, his energy on motorcycles, running after superficial things and so on, but this was my inner thought. When he turned to leave, I gave a look to him and said in my mind, "Be a human being," and he caught that look. "Bye," he said. Ten years later he came back. He asked, "Can you be my Teacher." He was dressed beautifully, a fantastic man. He is now in Chicago, my student, so to say. Isn't that something? One love look! A love look is different.

You do not know how much poison, anger, hatred, and malice run through your eyes to others, poisoning their whole atmosphere. I am not joking. This is real. When I look to somebody who is poison, the poison is gone. Your look has a mechanism that immediately makes your energy either poison or a benevolent force. There are people who, when they look at you, you are terrified. It is ugly, it is evil, it is darkness, but there are also looks that love you. It is a different look. You can experience these things sometimes and find out how they work.

For example, you are driving and suddenly another driver cuts in front of you and you say, "Son of a gun," and so on. Your eyes are the sources of your energy. They go and cut into their mind. Then maybe you curse five hundred people. If you are driving on the freeway, God save you.

One day they brought a very advanced clairvoyant lady to Buddha. They asked, "Lord Buddha, how come this woman is so triple clairvoyant?" which is etheric body, emotional body, and mental body. Her eyes were so beautiful. He looked at that girl and said, "My good sons and daughters, listen. In previous many, many lives she looked to all people with compassionate eyes and eventually she gained this clairvoyance." It is very scientific that if continuously you are destroying your subtle, etheric mechanism in your eyes by channeling poisons through them, you cannot develop it. But by continuously channeling compassion and love and tolerance and inclusiveness and oneness, the mechanism builds and builds and builds. In the first, second, or third life it becomes clairvoyance. All senses have seven powers and those seven powers are not opened yet. How will they open? They will open by your own actions, by your own activities. What kind of look are you giving? Sometimes try and catch yourself when you are giving some kind of look. Ask yourself, "What kind of look is this?" It is very strange.

The strangest thing is that love must be conscious striving. Love must be self-denying. Maybe striving is there, maybe consciousness is there, but self-denial is not there. Self-denial says, "Be anything that you want to be and I will not kill you. I will not prevent your dinner or lunch or breakfast. I will not prevent your joys. I love you." That is self-denial. "If you want to sleep on my side of the bed, okay. I will just sleep over there. If you want to eat my dinner, eat my bread also." But we are spoiled. The new civilization and new ways of interrelationship have totally spoiled us. "Me, mine, ours." There is no self-denial. We are suffering because we are going against the principles of life. That is where it ends. We are knocking our forehead into a law of the Universe and being hurt. There is no self-denial. Self-denial means complete love. Of course people will manipulate you, will exploit you, will use you. Okay, let them use you.

A few years ago some lady who was very close to my activities came to me and said, "Do not let people exploit you." It was nice mental advice. Then I thought, "She is right. When I need rest, people are coming, talking. When I want to eat, I cannot eat. What is this? I must start thinking how to stop that." Then I said, "No, I am on the wrong freeway. Let them exploit me, let them manipulate me, let them eat me, finish me. That is where I am achieving." I changed. Now if I am tired you can come and sit there for another ten hours and I will receive energy. I am telling you about you, for you. Never hesitate to be burdened by the burden of love. Never hesitate. Let them enjoy that they are deceiving this man, deceiving this woman, manipulating her. If you say, "She is very easy to manipulate. Oh, how nice it is," you are making lots of debts. Later you are going to pay for them. As far as the man is concerned, as far as the woman is concerned, it is self-denial. Take whatever comes because actually, in essence, if you think in good meditation, nothing belongs to you. Nothing belongs to yourself. Your body does not belong to you, your emotions do not belong to you, your mind does not belong to you. Nothing you have belongs to you. Finished. When you are cut from the life, nothing belongs to you. So if nothing belongs to you, let them take it. It is so nice.

One day I met a New Age teenager and I was talking to her. She was saying that a thief came and stole her radio and other equipment. I suddenly said, "How bad it is.

How bad it is that they stole from you." "Oh no," she said, "do not be so excited. They needed it. They took it." I did not understand. I said, "I must find that man and squeeze his head and beat him and put him in prison." "This is not your business," she said. But look at her answer. She got me. I was very guilty. I said, "Yeah," and I came to my senses. What are we teaching — punishment, prison, danger, and so on? I am not talking against the law. That law does whatever it wants, but it is your attitude. Let him steal. Maybe you do not need that television. You buy another one if you can. Get rid of it. If people take this kind of attitude your homes will not be locked. Everybody can take and bring everything they want. Some people will ask, "What are you saying? It is impossible. It cannot be." Is that not true? But you say, "I love." It is self-denial. Creativeness requires these three qualities: consciousness, striving, and self-denial.

And if love is marked by self-enfeeblement, disintegration and service to self, it will not be the highest concept of humanity.... Let me talk about self-enfeeblement. You make yourself appear weak, begging, tired so that you evoke love. Every husband does it. "Oh, ah, honey bunny." It creates love but it is not love. It is self-enfeeblement. You make yourself feeble so that you create love. How many games and dramas are conducted in homes along these lines? Friends and family members all play it. Do not say that you do not do it. It is selfish. It is a manipulation of somebody else to create love.

The heart filled to the brim with love will be active, valiant and will expand to its capacity. It will expand into the spheres of bliss. If only you sense that love and bring a portion into your heart, you will be beautiful. You will be almost invulnerable. Nobody can hurt you. We are hurt, we suffer, we have pain and suffering because we allow these things to enter into us, but if the love is there in your heart, you do not do nasty things. You are in bliss. Bliss means to be in equilibrium, in love, in joy, in happiness, in right relationship, in beauty. That is what you become.

Such a heart may pray without words and may bathe in Bliss. How greatly in need is humanity of the realization of the fire of love! The verse ends with a mysterious thing. M.M. says, To such a fire will correspond a purple star of the highest tension. A purple star begins to shine in the sphere when your heart is filled with love. A center of highest intellect and intuition and beauty and energy starts to watch you because you made your heart full of love. From that moment on you do not have any loneliness. You have your guide. The star is guiding you. That is the love!

People of Courage - by Marie Constat

Courage is a fiery virtue of the spiritual heart. Courage enables a disciple to stand fast in the midst of opposition, hardship and danger. Courage makes you a lion of the heart, a spiritual warrior, awake, discriminating and able to survey the battleground of life with fearlessness. As the lion roars his thunderous call, the disciple proclaims his reign over his or her physical, emotional, and mental battlefield. Disciples begin to conquer their weaknesses and with wisdom clean the landmines of negativity waiting to explode in their nature. Disciples learn to train their personality and build a bridge to the higher worlds, developing initiative and efficiency in action as they enter the Great Service of God.

You need courage to face what you do not like in yourself. When you have courage you can detach yourself from self-pity and touchiness. You dare to take calculated risks in life. A courageous disciple welcomes the challenge of some insecurity or danger, because danger sharpens vigilance and thereby strengthens consciousness. Every act of courageous service, no matter how small, gradually pushes open the gates of the higher worlds, enabling divine light, love, and power to reach you more fully.

When you express courage you link yourself to a great source of energy. Without courage you cannot become a spiritual warrior. The highest courage results from linking yourself to the will of the Commander in Chief of the kingdom of God, our Lord Christ. When you vow to carry out the will of the Lord, you develop a highly charged magnetic field around you that draws the energy of Christ to you, and He sends invisible helpers from the higher worlds to assist you in your service.

Assignment

1. Ask yourself what battlegrounds you have in your life. Do you regard obstacles as means to strengthen your consciousness, or do you shrink away into fear and negativity? You develop courage only when you face dangers and obstacles.
2. Write a list of your obstacles.
3. Bless each of your obstacles, because it will be through them that you advance on the Christ Way.
4. Look for someone in your life or in your reading who is an example of high courage. What do you admire in that person? How did that person express courage?
5. List ways to express courage in your own life.

A courageous disciple is a lion of the heart, full of gracious, loving-kindness, compassion and wisdom in action, ready to leap into the battle of life and do the will of God.

You are invited to attend our Third Annual Wesak Conference in April 2002

The theme of this conference will be the Agni Yoga Teachings. We will focus on keynotes that form the foundation of Agni Yoga and continue with our practice of Sacred Songs and Sacred Dances. On the evening of the 26th, we will have a Wesak ceremony and meditation to coincide with the exact time of the Full Moon. In preparation for this very important event, we will begin our conference with Sacred Songs and Dances.

The First Annual Leadership Meeting will be held on Sunday, April 28th. If you are a leader/teacher of any size group, you are welcome to attend.
